

Celebrate the Arts

The Series at Second Presbyterian Church

2009-2010 season

Join us for the seventh season of
Celebrate the Arts!

On four Sunday afternoons, our sanctuary will be filled with music from some of the finest artists in the nation. From the swinging pulse of jazz to the vast song repertoire of the classics, the season offers music for everyone.

Music to glorify God

Celebrate the Arts 2009-2010

Second Presbyterian Church is pleased to present our seventh season of Celebrate the Arts. The series has brought a rich variety of music to the community, and this season continues the tradition with several very different performances. We open by presenting Presbybop, a unique blend of music and faith. Silver, Wood and Ivory are our second artists, followed by violist Julius Wirth and The Florestan Recital Project in the spring. Free admission, free child care, and glorious music - join us!

Sunday,
Sept. 27, 2009
4 p.m.

Presbybop Music is a musical venture of Bill Carter, jazz pianist and Presbyterian minister. In 1993 he formed the Presbybop Quartet with Al Hamme, his college music professor from Binghamton University. Based in northeastern Pennsylvania, this group of consummate professionals has presented concerts and jazz worship services in churches around the country. Bill's jazz ministry has received national recognition and has served as a model for integrating the arts in Christian ministry.

Please note that the time for this concert only is 4 p.m.

Silver, Wood & Ivory

A Harmonious Friendship

Sunday, Nov. 1, 2009
3 p.m.

Gifted musicians and close friends Tracy Dietrich and Cindy Keller Wittenberg offer a sparkling combination of the Silver and Wood flutes and recorders and the Ivory of the keyboard. Tracy's magnificent collection of woodwind instruments includes standard silver and wooden flutes, alto flute, bass flute, piccolo, recorders, pan flute, and the incredible 6 1/2 foot high contrabass flute.

Julius Wirth, viola

Sunday, March 7, 2010
3 p.m.

Principal violist with the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra and the Baltimore Chamber Orchestra, Julius received a bachelor of music degree from Eastman School of Music where he studied with Francis Tursi, Jeffrey Irvine and Marcus Thompson. He also acquired a master of music degree from Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University under the tutelage of Karen Tuttle. Julius has been a winner of numerous awards and made solo appearances with the St. Cecilia Orchestra, the Baltimore Chamber Orchestra, the Concertante Chamber Ensemble, and the Lakeland Symphony. Other memberships include the National Chamber Orchestra and the Baltimore Opera Orchestra.

The Florestan Recital Project

Musical Artists-in-Residence, Dickinson College

Sunday, May 2, 2010
3 p.m.

Founded in 2001, Florestan Recital Project is a dynamic organization that promotes song repertoire in concerts, master classes, and educational residencies. By combining a roster of world-class artists with outstanding research and programming, Florestan has delighted audiences with a wide range of both established and unfamiliar repertoire. The artists are singers and pianists who regularly perform with leading opera companies, orchestras, and festivals around the world.

Celebrate the Arts, the Series at Second Presbyterian Church offers professional music in our community at no cost to attendees. This is possible because of the free will offerings accepted at each event and the generous donations from supporters. To help us continue celebrating the arts that God has given us, please consider becoming a donor.
